

BEETHAM QUILTS DRY JOB, IS REPORT

FARM BLOCK IN SENATE TAKES CHIEF CONTROL

Supplants Democrat-Insurgent Coalition In Tariff Bill Battles.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The senate farm bloc, recognizing since the farm relief bill has appeared today to have supplanted the Democrat-Insurgent coalition as a dominating force in the senatorial tariff battles, was victorious in its fight against a dry job against Canadian wheat and into flour in this country, for export to Cuba, the farm bloc looking for bigger and better worlds to conquer. In the Canadian wheat contest, the bloc overwhelmed the senate finance committee's recommendation by a vote of 51 to 18. It even was given credit for the sub-rosa action of the committee itself in agreeing to abandon the "conditions of competition" clause from the new flexible tariff provision.

DISAFFECTION NOTED
The wheat vote showed a curious disaffection within the Republican ranks. Such sturdy regulars as Allen, Kansas; Fess, Ohio; Goff and Hatfield, West Virginia; Goldsborough, Maryland; Kean, New Jersey; Oddie, Nevada; Patterson, Missouri; Vandenberg, Michigan; and Walcott, Connecticut, deserted the organization, voting with the farm bloc. In all 27 Republicans voted against the committee, including the Insurgents and Republican farm bloc members. The vote really demonstrated that when such farm bloc members as Capper, Kansas; Pine, Oklahoma; Jones, Washington, and Thomas, Idaho, vote with the Insurgents, the new bill will be changed to suit their views.

While the farm bloc waited for its next clash, the senate passed a decision on a provision, dealing with assessment of penalties against owners of ships, used in bringing outlawed opium into this country. The house assessed heavy penalties against the ship-owners but would allow the treasury to return the fines if the ship-owner proved his innocence in the transaction. The senate committee struck out this provision, so that ship owners would have to be tried in the federal courts if evidence indicated their knowledge of the opium smuggling.

PROFITS INVESTIGATED
The treasury department meanwhile started work on gathering the tremendous mass of information asked by the senate finance committee about the finances of more than 500 industrial corporations. The treasury was to report how much "profits or losses" these corporations had during the years 1922 to 1928 and how much they spent on wages and raw materials. Treasury experts declared the task would require several months.

The committee already has forwarded the names of more than 500 corporations to the treasury, and the end is not in sight. Both Democrats and Insurgents have said they would add names to the list from time to time, while Republicans were considering the submission of a list of importers, for information about their profits since the present tariff was enacted into law in 1922.

RELIEF FUND RAISED HERE

Mrs. Benjamin Friedman Is Grateful For Money Donated To Help Jews.

Mrs. Benjamin Friedman, local chairman of the Palestine Emergency Fund committee, wishes to extend her thanks to all who so generously contributed toward this fund for the relief of the suffering and oppressed Jewish people in Palestine where massacres by the Arabs have caused appalling distress.

Mrs. Friedman states that since the announcement in The Herald on Sept. 5, contributions amounting to $100 have been voluntarily brought to her home and to the store. She is deeply grateful to all contributors. "May God bless you and reward you a hundred fold" is the prayer of Mrs. Friedman.

David A. Brown of New York City, is the general chairman in charge of the fund and Mrs. Friedman was appointed to act as local chairman by him.

Pickaway-Co's Part In Ohio Movement For Christian Unity Will Be Outline At Meeting Here on Tuesday

Representatives Of All Protestant Denominations Invited To Gathering.

Enlistment of the members of the churches of Pickaway Co. in a great statewide movement for Christian unity, to be held on throughout 1930, will be outlined at a meeting of representatives of the various Protestant congregations, the Methodist church, Circleville, Tuesday, Sept. 24, at 7:30.

Those invited to attend constitute a county promotional committee for the Centennial Pentecostal Celebration of the Ohio Council of Churches, to be held in Columbus January 19-26, at which the statewide Christian unity movement will be launched.

E. S. Neuding, Circleville, is serving as chairman of the group. Other members of which will be appointed at the meeting Tuesday.

ASKS FULL REPRESENTATION
It is hoped that every Protestant church in the county will be present at the meeting. Rev. W. H. Thompson, Columbus, field secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches, will be present to outline the plan for the celebration.

Similar committees have been organized in many other counties and an enthusiastic response on the part of the laymen of the various denominations is reported. From Allen-co 160 persons have already registered as prospective attendees at the celebration; from Shelby-co, 69; from Auglaize, 66; and from Mercer, 33.

Rev. Thompson, who spent several days in this county interviewing local laymen regarding the unity program, described the Centennial Celebration as "a history of Christian unity," plans for which are being watched with interest by Christian leaders throughout the country.

LAYMEN ENTHUSIASTIC
"Everywhere I find laymen enthusiastic for this program of unity and cooperation among the churches," he said. "In every denomination there is evident dissatisfaction with the wasteful competition that has characterized so much of our past church work."

"The Ohio Council of Churches in which 17 Protestant denominations are working together, needs the support of the church people throughout the state to make this program of cooperation a reality. We hope the members of churches of Pickaway-co will join wholeheartedly with those of other counties in making this great Centennial Celebration a success."

LIST OF SPEAKERS
Two former moderators of the United Church of Canada—Dr. Geo. C. Pidgeon and Dr. James Endicott—will report on the success of that church, formed by the union of Canadian Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists.

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, Bishop William F. McDowell, Bishop William M. Bell, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Dr. William Hiram Foulkes, Fred B. Smith, Dr. Ralph E. Diefendorfer, Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison, Dr. Peter Ainslie, Mrs. John Ferguson and many others are also listed as speakers.

David W. Teachout, Cleveland business man heads the committee directing plans for the laymen's section of the Centennial Celebration.

Rebecca Rogers Free Woman When Third Texas Jury Disagrees on Robbery

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex., Sept. 21.—Rebecca Rogers, former Texas University co-ed who was charged with the robbery of the Farmers National of Buda, Tex., is a free woman today as far as the state is concerned.

Her jury, following a 50-hour deadlock, was discharged last night without agreeing on a verdict, and the girl who was accused of robbing two bank clerks of $1,000 at the point of a revolver was assured of her freedom when District Attorney Fred Blundell announced that he is "through with the case."

Five times yesterday the jury demanded the court to discharge them which it was evident that the balloo would remain nine to three for acquittal. Each time the judge ordered the jury to deliberate further.

The 12 jurors deliberated by kicking on the jury room door and shouting their demands for discharge. Bailiffs reinforced the door when the hinges showed signs of weakening under the blows from the square-toed boots of the jurymen.

The trial was the third Mrs. Rogers has stood. The first trial resulted in her being sentenced to the penitentiary for 14 years. The sentence was reversed on appeal, however, and sent to La Grange, Tex., for trial. The second trial resulted in a mistrial as did the last one.

Mrs. Rogers was defended by her husband whom she met and married when both were students at the University of Texas.

ATTEND PICNIC OF MASTER FARMERS

The Old Master Farmers annual picnic was held Saturday at the London State Prison Farm. Those attending from Circleville were Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stevenson and family, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Gerhart and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Marion and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Teegarden and family, all master farmers. Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lewis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wiley, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bragg also attended.

BEGIN PROBES OF DETROIT'S CABARET FIRE

City and County Officials Launch Six Investigations —19 Are Dead.

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—The death toll of the Study Club fire disaster reached 19 today when Roland Lowe, 39, of Detroit, succumbed in a hospital.

He was the 10th male victim. The body of one man and one woman remain unidentified.

City officials visited practically every night club and cabaret in the city last night, subjecting them to rigid inspections and ordering the elimination of fire hazards.

Six separate investigations were launched today to place criminal responsibility for the fire which transformed the Study Club cabaret into a roaring furnace, killing 19 men and women dancers and injuring 49 others, some of whom are expected to die hourly.

Prosecuting Attorney James E. Chenot announced that his office not only would seek to place criminal responsibility for the tragedy, but would also hold the proprietor to account for allowing the night club to operate without adequate fire protection.

Marty Cohen and Robert Jackson, proprietor and master of ceremonies at the club were taken into custody of the police.

FIRE ESCAPES ORDERED
One official said: "Cohen tells us he was ordered to install fire escapes nine months ago and although he intended to do so, never did."

Cohen was ordered held until a full investigation was completed. Meanwhile Detective Inspector Henry Garvin, after a day of investigation and questioning of witnesses, tentatively placed the blame for the tragedy on a cloak room girl, said to have thrown the front door open when the first small blaze was reported to her.

A draft from the open door caused the flames to spread so rapidly that all escape was cut off, Garvin said.

The small blaze, caused by a match or cigarette smoldering in a curtain, changed in a twinkling to a pillar of flame that swept up the main stairway to the crowded dining room above consuming rugs, hangings and woodwork and gaining in ferocity.

CITY IS BLAMED
Two hundred men and women were in the dining room dancing, drinking and making merry. At the first wisp of flame they became panic-stricken and stampeded, screaming, cursing, fighting and trampling one another. Few were burned in comparison to the scores who were bruised, battered and overcome by smoke and fumes.

"The public was invited to enter the Study Club when four city departments granted licenses for it to operate," Chenot said in his statement.

"This office will seek to place responsibility for allowing such a place to operate. I have ordered the police to keep everybody away from the club and also to take photographs of the interior and exterior of the building."

"We are taking statements of the living victims. It is a mass of horror that we are compiling. The public will know all the facts as soon as all of the living victims have been interviewed," he concluded.

Four city departments involved in the probe are the recreation commissioner, the police department, the building department and the fire commission.

EXITS CONFUSED
There were two exits from the dining room of the night club doors side by side. The entertainers used one. The crowd, ignorant of where the path to safety lay pushed and shoved to get to that side of the room where the narrow dressing room was located.

Into this room scores of the dancers rushed in their effort to escape the flames. Inside the room the rush centered at an iron sashed window opening outward. Firemen and rescuers, when they penetrated the blazing room a few minutes later, found thirty-five persons some of them dead or dying, jammed in an inextinguishable heap. Dead and dying were crushed against the smoldering walls.

Eventually the room yielded the bodies of 16 victims. Two others died at Receiving hospital and were added to the list. Forty-five others were taken to hospitals and treated for burns, cuts and fractured bones.

ASHVILLE LOSES TO WASHINGTON 11

WASHINGTON, C. H., Sept. 21.—The light but fighting Washington C. H. High school Blue Lions raised the curtain on the local football season by burying a weak Asheville High school eleven under a 44 to 0 score here Friday.

Noon and Armbrust behind splendid interference and a hard charging line, reeled off one long run after another.

DEDICATION OCT. 27

Dedication of the new M. E. church at Pherson will take place on Sunday, Oct. 27, instead of Sunday, Sept. 29, as announced.

A concrete block edifice now replaces the wooden building which was destroyed by fire last spring.

ABLE TO BE OUT

Paul, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Rooney of East Union-st., who has been confined to his home the past two weeks as the result of an abscess in the left ear, is now able to be up and around again.

Gov. Trying to Persuade State Prohibition Director To Retain Post.

CADIZ, O., Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Reports that Rupert R. Beetham, one of Harrison-co's leading citizens, has resigned as state prohibition director in the cabinet of Governor Myers Y. Cooper, circulated here today.

It is said the resignation was sent in by Beetham as soon as it was learned recently that O. C. Gray, Harrison-co representative and speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives, had been named as head of the State Banking Department by the governor.

Reports here are that the resignation was on the governor's desk before newspapers announcing Gray's selection were on the street. It was stated that nothing had been done about the matter because Cooper is being urged to try to persuade Beetham to remain in office.

Beetham was persuaded to take the prohibition post, it is reliably reported, with the understanding that he might get the banking department position as soon as it became vacant. The latter office pays $7,500 a year, which is the highest salary in the state administration outside of the governor's $10,000.

Before E. H. Blair, Democrat, resigned as banking superintendent, Gray had many endorsements for the post. He was serving his fourth term as Harrison-co representative and had been honored twice by being elected as speaker of the lower house of the general assembly, and with the first speaker to be re-elected since 1908.

Gray recently resigned as speaker of the First National Bank here. Beetham is president of the Fourth National Bank, situated in the same block as Gray's bank here.

Farious Aviator and Party Head For Haiti In Trimotored Plane.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—After a restful night spent in this old Cuban city, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his party hopped off for Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, at 6:56 o'clock this morning. The weather was clear.

The big trimotored Fokker got away to a good start with the engines working perfectly. It was a typical "Lindbergh take-off."

After taking the air the plane flew over this city while the people stood in the streets and the soldiers watching the big air-liner with its loudly drumming motors sweeping through the sky.

The occupants of the plane got a fine view of Santiago and the nearby mountains.

After flying over the city and harbor the plane headed in a southeasterly direction out over windward passage—the body of water connecting the Atlantic and the Caribbean.

The distance to Port-Au-Prince is approximately 275 miles.

OHIO AVIATOR IS VICTIM OF CRASH

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 21.—Another airplane fatality was added today to Hamilton-co's toll.

Allen Sawyer, 27, of Glendale, was fatally injured late yesterday when his plane went into a tailspin at the height of about 800 feet and crashed to the ground.

Sawyer had approximately 150 solo flying hours to his credit. The crash-up occurred a short time after he had taken off from Watson airport here.

IS CHARGED COSTS

Charles Sterling, Circleville, was arrested Thursday evening by Detectives Porter and Fissell on a charge of assault and battery on his wife. He was given a hearing before Judge F. H. Friday morning and pleaded guilty to the charge. No fine was imposed although Sterling is required to pay the costs of prosecution.

COAST GUARD HEAD INDICTED

Lucas-Co Grand Jury Finds
True Bill Against Captain
For Shooting Sailor.

TOLDO, O., Sept. 21.—Gardner D. Young, captain of a coast guard patrol boat on Lake Erie, today is under an indictment by the Lucas-co grand jury on charges of shooting with intent to kill and wound.

It is alleged that Young's revenue cutter fired on a boat which Rutherford Hayes, of Port Clinton, was sailing. Hayes was seriously wounded.

The alleged shooting which was said to have been done by a machine gun, took place at the mouth of Crane creek, near Bono, on August 29.

Considerable excitement flared up at the first reports of the shooting when it was said that Hayes was a relative of the former president by the same name. These reports were proved to be unfounded, however.

FIRST CONCRETE IS

The first concrete to be poured on the Columbus-Portsmouth road, which is now being paved by the A. W. Burns Construction Co., was done Thursday.

This concrete will act as a foundation for the brick which will be laid later. During the past week much time has been spent in grading the road for this purpose.

DAVIS HAS HIS MAN

A telegram was received at the sheriff's office Friday from Sheriff Davis from Sinton, Texas, stating that he had his man and was leaving Friday evening for Circleville. He is expected to arrive in Circleville Monday or Tuesday with E. C. Hanson, formerly of Orient, who is wanted here on a charge of non-support.

FARM BLOC IN SENATE TAKES CHIEF CONTROL

Supplants Democrat-Insurgent Coalition In Tariff Bill Battles.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The senate farm bloc, reorganized since the farm relief battles, appeared today to have supplanted the Democratic-Insurgent coalition as a dominating influence in the senatorial tariff wars.

Victorious in its fight to assess a duty against Canadian wheat, the farm bloc was looking for bigger and better worlds to conquer. In the Canadian wheat contest, the bloc overwhelmed the senate finance committee's recommendation by a vote of 51 to 18. It even was given credit for the sub-rosa action of the committee itself in agreeing to abandon the "conditions of competition" clause from the new flexible tariff provision.

In all 27 Republicans voted against the committee, including the Insurgents and Republican farm bloc members. The vote really demonstrated that when such farm bloc members as Capper, Kansas; Pine, Oklahoma; Jones, Washington, and Thomas, Idaho, vote with the Insurgents, the new bill will be changed to suit their views.

While the farm bloc waited for its next clash, the senate faced a decision on a provision, dealing with assessment of penalties against owners of ships, used in bringing outlawed opium into this country. The house assessed heavy penalties against the ship-owners but would allow the treasury to return the fines if the ship-owner proved his innocence in the transaction. Both Democrats and Insurgents have said they would add names to the list from time to time, while Republicans were considering the submission of a list of importers, for information about their profits since the present tariff was enacted into law in 1922.

Pickaway-Co's Part In Ohio Movement For Christian Unity Will Be Outline At Meeting Here on Tuesday

Representatives Of All Pro- testant Denominations In- vited To Gathering.

Enlistment of the members of the churches of Pickaway Co. in a great statewide movement for Christian unity, to be carried on throughout 1930, will be planned at a meeting of representatives of the various Protestant congregations, at the Methodist church, Circleville, Tuesday, Sept. 24, at 7:30 p. m.

Those invited to attend constitute a county promotional committee for the Centennial Pentecostal Celebration of the Ohio Council of Churches, to be held in Columbus January 19-26, at which the statewide Christian unity movement will be launched.

E. S. Neuding, Circleville, is serving as chairman of the group. Other members of which will be appointed at the meeting Tuesday.

It is hoped that every Protestant church in the county will be represented at the meeting. Rev. W. H. Thompson, Columbus, field secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches, will be present to outline the plans for the Centennial Celebration, which will mark the observance of 1930 as the 1900th anniversary of the church.

Similar committees have been organized in many other counties and an enthusiastic response on the part of the laymen of the various denominations is reported. From Allen-co 160 persons have already registered as prospective attendants at the celebration; from Shelby-co, 69; from Auglaize, 66; and from Mercer, 33.

"Christian Unity" will be the prevailing theme of all addresses and discussions in the Centennial Pentecostal Celebration. Thirty-four nationally and internationally noted leaders have been engaged as speakers and discussion leaders to deal with the different phases of this subject. A pageant on the theme will be presented.

LIST OF SPEAKERS

Two former moderators of the United Church of Canada—Dr. Geo. C. Pidgeon and Dr. James Endicott—will report on the success of that church, formed by the union of Canadian Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists.

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, Bishop William F. McDowell, Bishop William M. Bell, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Dr. William Hiram Foulkes, Fred B. Smith, Dr. Ralph E. Chicago, Cook-co Are "Broker" Now Than Ever Before

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Chicago is "broker" than it has ever before; Cook-co is "broker" than it has ever been before; with both city and county in dire financial straits the gravity of the situation became acutely apparent to the city council finance committee today after they had listened to a report of John Richert, chief of the committee staff.

Next January 1 Chicago faces the possibility of a sweeping slash of 32 per cent in city hall departmental costs involving a threat of the dismissal of 2,000 policemen and 800 firemen.

SOVIET PLANE NEAR ALASKA

Craft Bound To New York From Moscow Lands On Island of U. S.

MOSCOW, Sept. 21.—(I.N.S.)—The Soviet plane "Land of the Soviets" which is attempting a flight from Moscow to New York, has reached United States soil, although it has not yet reached the North American mainland, according to information received here today by the society for the promotion of aviation and chemistry.

A Kamchatka dispatch to this organization said the plane has landed upon Attu Island, which is United States territory, near the Commander islands. The Commander islands lie in the Bering sea half way between Kamchatka and the Aleutian islands.

There are four Russian airmen in the plane.

CORDOVA, Alaska, Sept. 21.—The Soviet plane, enroute from Moscow to New York, landed over Cape Wrangell, Attu island, and its position was reported slightly northeast of there early today, according to a radio dispatch here.

Attu is the westernmost island of the Aleutian Archipelago. The plane was expected off the coast of Alaska tonight.

INSTALLS FIXTURES

R. O. Darling, local carpenter, E. Main-st., is now installing new fixtures in a Kroger store in Newark, O. This store, when completed, will be one of the most modern and up-to-date stores in the state. Mr. Darling recently completed a store in Westerville.

Misses Daisy and Viola Woolver, of Guilford-rd left Saturday for York, Neb., where they will visit their brother, A. H. Woolver, again.

RESTAURANT IS FOUND IN JAIL

Start Investigation of Dayton Workhouse—Lawyer Cap- italizes Sentence.

DAYTON, O., Sept. 21.—Samuel Cohen, Cleveland liquor law violator in the Dayton workhouse, has an eye for business even though he is confined in a prison, but that characteristic may lead to a rigorous probe.

Accusations that there are certain privileged prisoners in the workhouse are being made.

High city officials, who were headed by city welfare director, E. V. Stoecklein, raided the jail and uncovered a dining room which would have been very creditable for a first class eating joint.

Two cupboards, which were doubly locked and which contained china ware and silver of a fine quality, were raided and expensive foods and delicacies which are not regularly on the prison menu were allegedly found.

It was charged that Cohen, who is serving a nine months term for liquor law violations, was the proprietor of this restaurant within the jail.

The cupboards were located in a greenhouse of the bastille, and Sammy Cohen was found working there also, in clothes which were far superior to those generally worn by gardeners.

ASHVILLE LOSES TO WASHINGTON 11

WASHINGTON, C. H., Sept. 21.—The light but fighting Washington C. H. High school Blue Lions raised the curtain on the local football season by burying a weak Asheville High school eleven under a 44 to 0 score here Friday.

Noon and Armbrust behind splendid interference and a hard charging line reeled off one long run after another.

DEDICATION OCT. 27

Dedication of the new M. E. church at Pherson will take place on Sunday, Oct. 27, instead of Sunday, Sept. 29, as announced. A concrete block edifice now replaces the wooden building which was destroyed by fire last spring.

ABLE TO BE OUT

Paul, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Rooney of East Union-st., who has been confined to his home the past two weeks as the result of an abscess in the left ear, is now able to be up and around again.

BEGIN PROBES OF DETROIT'S CABARET FIRE

City and County Officials Launch Six Investigations —19 Are Dead.

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—The death toll of the Study Club fire disaster reached 19 today when Roland Lowe, 39, of Detroit, succumbed in a hospital.

He was the 10th male victim. The body of one man and one woman remain unidentified.

City officials visited practically every night club and cabaret in the city last night, subjecting them to rigid inspections and ordering the elimination of fire hazards.

Six separate investigations were launched today to place criminal responsibility for the fire which transformed the Study Club cabaret into a roaring furnace, killing 19 men and women dancers and injuring 49 others, some of whom are expected to die hourly.

Prosecuting Attorney James E. Chenot announced that his office not only would seek to place criminal responsibility for the tragedy, but would also hold the proprietor to account for allowing the night club to operate without adequate fire protection.

Marty Cohen and Robert Jackson, proprietor and master of ceremonies at the club were taken into custody of the police.

FIRE ESCAPES ORDERED

One official said:

"Cohen tells us he was ordered to install fire escapes nine months ago and although he intended to do so, never did."

Cohen was ordered held until a full investigation was completed. Meanwhile Detective Inspector Henry Garvin, after a day of investigation and questioning of witnesses, tentatively placed the blame for the tragedy on a cloak room girl, said to have thrown the front door open when the first small blaze was reported to her. A draft from the open door caused the flames to spread so rapidly that all escape was cut off, Garvin said.

The small blaze, caused by a match or cigaret smouldering in a curtain, changed in a twinkling to a pillar of flame that swept up the main stairway to the crowded dining room above consuming rugs, hangings and woodwork and gaining in ferocity.

CITY IS BLAMED

Two hundred men and women were in the dining room dancing, drinking and making merry. At the first wisp of flame they became panic-stricken and stampeded, screaming, cursing, fighting and trampling one another. Few were burned in comparison to the scores who were bruised, battered and overcome by smoke and fumes.

"The public was invited to enter the Study Club when four city departments granted licenses for it to operate," Chenot said in his statement.

"This office will seek to place responsibility for allowing such a place to operate. I have ordered the police to keep everybody away from the club and also to take photographs of the interior and exterior of the building."

"We are taking statements of the living victims. It is a mass of horror that we are compiling. The public will know all the facts as soon as all of the living victims have been interviewed," he concluded.

Four city departments involved in the probe are the recreation commissioner, the police department, the building department and the fire commission.

There were two exits from the dining room of the night club, doors side by side. The entertainers used one. The crowd, ignorant of where the path to safety lay, pushed and shoved to get to that side of the room where the narrow dressing room was located.

Into this room scores of the dancers rushed in their effort to escape the flames. Inside the room the rush centered at an iron sashed window opening outward. Firemen and rescuers, when they penetrated the blazing room a few minutes later, found thirty-five persons some of them dead or dying, jammed in an inextricable heap. Dead and dying were crushed against the smoldering walls.

Eventually the room yielded the bodies of 16 victims. Two others died at Receiving hospital and were added to the list. Forty five others were taken to hospitals and treated for burns, cuts and fractured bones.

Third Reminder Is Given To Cooper That 6 Months' Accounting Is Due

Democratic State News Service Asks Reason For Delay of Promised Report.

By ELMER P. FRIES

COLUMBUS, Sept. 21.—The Democratic State News Service issued today its third reminder to state officials that the promised accounting of financial operations for the first six months of the present administration is long overdue. Previous references to the failure of officials to present the report have brought no public explanation of the delay. The news bureau made this comment today:

"Without seeking to prejudice the record it may show or suggest that anything but slowness in the work of compiling it has held it up, this reminder is offered again. Upon his return from the governors' conference in

Lucas-Co Grand Jury Finds True Bill Against Captain For Shooting Sailor.

TOLTO, O., Sept. 21.—Gardner D. Young, captain of a coast guard patrol boat on Lake Erie, today is under an indictment by the Lucas-co grand jury on charges of shooting with intent to kill and wound.

It is alleged that Young's revenue cutter fired on a boat which Rutherford Hayes, of Port Clinton, was sailing. Hayes was seriously wounded.

The alleged shooting which was said to have been done by a machine gun, took place at the mouth of Crane creek, near Bono, on August 29.

Considerable excitement flared up at the first reports of the shooting when it was said that Hayes was a relative of the former president by the same name. These reports were proved to be unfounded, however.

FIRST CONCRETE IS POURED FOR ROAD

The first concrete to be poured on the Columbus-Portsmouth road, which is now being paved by the A. W. Burns Construction Co., was done Thursday.

This concrete will act as a foundation for the brick which will be laid later. During the past week much time has been spent in grading the road for this purpose.

DAVIS HAS HIS MAN

A telegram was received at the sheriff's office Friday from Sheriff Davis from Sinton, Texas, stating that he had his man and was leaving Friday evening for Circleville. He is expected to arrive in Circleville Monday or Tuesday with E. C. Henson, formerly of Orient, who is wanted here on a charge of non-support.

RESIGNS WHEN GRAY IS GIVEN BANK POSITION

Gov. Trying to Persuade State Prohibition Director To Retain Post.

CADIZ, O., Sept. 21.—(I.N.S.)—Reports that Rupert R. Beetham, one of Harrison-co's leading citizens, has resigned as state prohibition director in the cabinet of Governor Myers Y. Cooper, circulated here today.

It is said the resignation was sent in by Beetham as soon as it was learned recently that O. C. Gray, Harrison-co representative and speaker of the Ohio house of Representatives, had been named as head of the State Banking Department by the governor.

Reports here are that the resignation was on the governor's desk before newspapers announcing Gray's selection were on the street. It was stated that nothing has been done about the matter because Cooper is being urged to try to persuade Beetham to remain in office.

Beetham was persuaded to take the prohibition post, it is reliably reported, with the understanding that he might get the banking department position as soon as it became vacant. The latter office pays $7,500 a year, which is the highest salary in the state administration outside of the governor's $10,000.

Before E. H. Blair, Democrat, resigned as banking superintendent, Gray had many endorsements for the post. He was serving his fourth term as Harrison-co representative and had been honored twice by being elected as speaker of the lower house of the general assembly, and was the first speaker to be re-elected since 1863.

Gray recently resigned as cashier of the First National Bank here. Beetham is president of the Fourth National Bank, situated in the same block as Gray's bank here.

LINDY LEAVES SANTIAGO PORT

Fanbus Aviator and Party Head For Haiti In Tri- Motored Plane.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Sept. 21.—(I.N.S.)—After a restful night spent in this old Cuban city, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his party hopped off for Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, at 6:56 o'clock this morning. The weather was clear.

The big tri-motored Fokker got away to a good start with the engines working perfectly. "It was a typical 'Lindbergh take-off,'" said a local observer.

After taking the air the plane flew over this city while the people stood in the streets and the fields watching the big air-liner with its loudly drumming motors sweeping through the sky.

The occupants of the plane got a fine view of Santiago and the nearby mountains.

After flying over the city and harbor the plane headed in a southeasterly direction out over windward passage—the body of water connecting the Atlantic and the Caribbean.

The distance to Port-Au-Prince is approximately 275 miles.

OHIO AVIATOR IS VICTIM OF CRASH

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 21.—Another airplane fatality was added today to Hamilton-co's toll.

Allen Sawyer, 27, of Glendale, was fatally injured late yesterday when his plane went into a tailspin at the height of about 900 feet and crashed to the ground.

Sawyer had approximately 150 solo flying hours to his credit. The crash-up occurred a short time after he had taken off from Watson airport here.

IS CHARGED COSTS

Charles Sterling, Circleville, was arrested Thursday evening by Deputies Porter and Fissell on a charge of assault and battery on his wife. He was given a hearing before Squire Fricke Friday morning and pleaded guilty to the charge. No fine was imposed although Sterling is required to pay the costs of prosecution.

WAVERLY HIGH FIRST VICTIM OF DEERCREEK

Williamsport Uncorks Powerful Attack To Annex Opponent, 30 To 0, Friday.

The Williamsport football won its first game of the season Friday by defeating Waverly by the score of 30-0 in a contest featured by the fine playing of Hurley and Tomlinson.

Williamsport chose to receive. Hurley received the kickoff and carried it 17 yards for first down. Williamsport was then held for downs and punts. Waverly punted back. On the next play Lemmings passed to Tomlinson for 8 yards and Hurley carried the ball for first down. Williamsport was penalized 15 yards. Tomlinson carried the ball 14 yards almost gaining back the penalty but his team lost the ball on downs on the 8-yard line. Waverly punted and Hurley returned the ball 20 yards for a touchdown.

POWERFUL ATTACK
Waverly kicked off and Williamsport punted, they punted back and the first quarter was over. In the second quarter, Lemmings passed to Tomlinson was good for first down. Hurley got loose for 20 yards, making the fifth first down. Hurley again made first down, but was penalized five yards. Tomlinson made 14 yards for the second touchdown. Williamsport kicked off and Waverly began a march for the goal. After making four successive first downs they were stopped by the end of the half.

Williamsport kicked off to open the second half. Waverly received and punted. Tomlinson returned the ball 25 yards. Hurley carried it 15 yards for the eighth first down. Williamsport passed. Waverly intercepted but fumbled. Williamsport recovered, and Hurley went over for the third touchdown. Williamsport kicked off and after an exchange of punts Williamsport opened up a pass attack. Lemmings passed to Tomlinson who ran 80 yards for a touchdown.

WAVERLY RALLY HELD
Waverly rallied and again made four successive first downs but the Williamsport line finally held and Waverly lost the ball on downs. Both teams punted for three successive times, on Waverly's fourth punt Tomlinson gets the ball and carries it 30 yards for the fifth touchdown as the game is over.

The Williamsport line-up was: Carman, center; Schleich, r. g.; Wing, r. g.; Cupp, l. g.; Redman, t.; Anderson, l. e.; Frazier, r. t.; Ward, r. e.; Hurley, f. b.; Caund, center; Lemmings, r. b.; Tomlinson, l. b.

Next Friday Williamsport plays Greenfield there.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
by Edson R. White Shawnee, Okla.

THAT it takes organized effort to build a city

THAT every citizen should be vitally interested in the civic and business affairs of the home city.

THAT the business men are community leaders.

THAT their judgment should never be based or warped by any disturbing influence. They should co-operate in a way that will move their city ahead faster on the road of progress.

THAT business interests should be open and above board and back every worthy project for the home city.

THAT they should be able to speak from knowledge and experience as to what is best for the home city.

THAT they should co-operate together to the end that the home city will be a busier and better city.

THAT every citizen should back from loyalty and in this way help local business for as business grows so will the city grow.

ITS YOUR CITY—ITS SUCCESS MEANS YOUR SUCCESS CO-OPERATE

Child Welfare Workers Urge Crime Prevention

THREE TINY RADIO ARTISTS

CHICAGO—Paganism and anarchy are not far away unless something is done quickly to offset that to which the children of today are exposed in the way of lurid tabloid sheets, filthy magazines, exciting films of wild, unnatural and unsocial life, sex-filled books, and the like.

This was the statement of Harry Edward Freund, director of the American Research Foundation, before a meeting of the patrons and patronesses of The Bookhouse Guild and a coterie of child welfare workers held here today to consider crime prevention.

Mr. Freund quoted John S. Sumner, secretary of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice, by saying, "We are in a great war against viciousness, and it is well to know and recognize the enemy."

Mr. Freund said the best way to prevent crime is to flood the market with good juvenile literature—broader books for children between the ages of six and twelve.

"Fill that literature with text and pictures extolling the virtues of honesty, industry, filial devotion and high idealism as opposed to the sordid materialism of the age."

"If we would prevent crime we must begin with the child before adolescence," said Olive Beaupre Miller, the noted author of child verse and the editor of "My Bookhouse" in a communication read at the meeting. "Too many parents regard the reading of their children—when they read, at all outside of school—merely as amusement of no particular importance and with no object save that of entertaining the child."

"We must get down beneath this superficial view and consider the whole matter of reading in its true light as the very basis of the child's thought, of his views of life, of the moral and ethical standards he is forming, the spirit that is awakening and quickening in him and the character that is unfolding. Books for children must be selected scientifically if we would prevent a wrong mentality in the adult."

that just a little politics was discussed and that Mr. Hoover may have learned that supporters of the governor would have him as a senatorship after he has quit the gubernatorial chair. Their embryo senatorial boom in his behalf is based on the hypothesis that Dr. Cooper is not, as some appraisers have suggested, a "one term governor." It also is predicated on the assumption that a similar movement by friends of Gilbert Bettman, attorney general, to present him as a senatorial candidate will not mature.

STERLING WINS

MT. STERLING, Sept. 21.—Mt. Sterling high school defeated Grove City 13 to 0 here Friday. Finnan and Hilsheimer scored touchdowns, while the former plunged through the center of the line for one of the extra points. It was the initial game of the season for each eleven, and the Grove City team is the first in the history of the school.

LOCAL ELEVEN LOSE OPENING GRIDIRON GAME

Circleville High School Defeated, 19 To 6, In Contest At Marysville.

By DON RADER

The Circleville Tigers journeyed to Marysville Friday but went down to defeat by a score of 19 to 6. The game was a close fought contest, but heavy losses due to the 210 yards in penalties of off-side lost the game for the locals. In the first few minutes George Iles, Circleville's flashy half-back intercepted a pass that had been broken up and ran 70 yards for a touchdown.

Only one man came within tackling distance of Iles and Hoffman knocked him off. Hill played bang up football throughout the game, receiving passes and his hard plunging and tackling featured the Tiger's play. Heiskell and Davis did their share of long running and hard tackling.

TIGERS LIGHTER
The Marysville boys were slightly larger than the locals. Ruppert of Marysville was responsible for most of their gains. Sink held all passes within reaching distance.

In the second quarter the Blue and White clad warriors carried the ball to Circleville's one yard line, and on a line buck scored six points but failed to kick goal. In the third quarter the blue jackets scored another touchdown through a line plunge and scored another point on a goal, making the score 13 to 6 at the end of the third quarter.

THE FINAL BLOW
The fourth quarter looked brighter for the Tigers until a Marysville warrior ran at large, scoring another touchdown.

The lineup:

Miss Miriam Ruggles and Mrs. J. E. Groom were visitors in Lancaster Thursday and played golf at the Lancaster Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Hulse Hays and daughter, Mary and son, Hulse, Jr., are spending two weeks at Indian Springs, Mich.

WAVERLY HIGH FIRST VICTIM OF DEERCREEK

Williamsport Uncorks Powerful Attack To Annex Opener, 30 To 0, Friday.

The Williamsport football won its first game of the season Friday by defeating Waverly by the score of 30-0 in a contest featured by the fine playing of Hurley and Tomlinson.

Williamsport chose to receive. Hurley received the kickoff and carried it 17 yards for first down. Williamsport was then held for downs and punts. Waverly punted back. On the next play Lemmings passed to Tomlinson for 8 yards and Hurley carried the ball for first down. Williamsport was penalized 15 yards. Tomlinson carried the ball 14 yards almost gaining back the penalty but his team lost the ball on downs on the 8-yard line. Waverly punted and Hurley returned the ball 20 yards for a touchdown.

POWERFUL ATTACK

Waverly kicked off and Williamsport punted. They punted back and the first quarter was over. In the second quarter, Lemmings passed to Tomlinson was good for 20 yards, making the fifth first down. Hurley again made first down. Hurley again made first down. Tomlinson made 14 yards for the second touchdown. Williamsport kicked off and Waverly began a march for the goal. After making four successive first downs they were stopped by the end of the half.

Williamsport kicked off to open the second half. Waverly received and punted. Tomlinson returned the ball 25 yards. Hurley carried it 15 yards for the eighth first down. Williamsport passed. Waverly intercepted but fumbled. Williamsport recovered, and Hurley went over for the third touchdown. Williamsport kicked off and after an exchange of punts Williamsport opened up a pass attack. Lemmings passed to Tomlinson who ran 80 yards for a touchdown.

Waverly rallied and again made four successive first downs but the Williamsport line finally held and Waverly lost the ball on downs. Both teams punted for three successive times, on Waverly's fourth punt Tomlinson gets the ball and carries it 30 yards for the fifth touchdown as the game is over.

The Williamsport line-up was: Carman, center; Schleich, r. g.; Wing, r. g.; Cupp, l. g.; Redman, l. t.; Anderson, l. e.; Frazier, r. t.; Baird, r. e.; Hurley, f. b.; Caund, center; Lemmings, r. h.; Tomlinson, l. h.

Next Friday Williamsport plays Greenfield there.

Child Welfare Workers Urge Crime Prevention

CHICAGO—Paganism and anarchy are not far away unless something is done quickly to offset that to which the children of today are exposed in the way of lurid tabloid sheets, filthy magazines, exciting films of wild, unnatural and unseemly life, sex-filled books, and the like.

This was the statement of Harry Edward Freund, director of the American Research Foundation, before a meeting of the patrons and patronesses of The Bookhouse Guild and a coterie of child welfare workers held here today to consider crime prevention.

Mr. Freund quoted John S. Sumner, secretary of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice, by saying: "We are in a great war against viciousness, and it is well to know and recognize the enemy."

Mr. Freund said the best way to prevent crime is to flood the market with good juvenile literature—books for children between the ages of six and twelve.

"Fill that literature with text and pictures extolling the virtues of honesty, industry, filial devotion and high idealism as opposed to the sordid materialism of the age."

"If we would prevent crime we must begin with the child before adolescence," said Olive Beaupre Miller, noted author of child verse and the editor of "My Bookhouse" in a communication read at the meeting. "Too many parents regard the reading of their children—when they read at all—outside of school—merely as amusement with no particular importance and with no object save that of entertaining the child."

"We must get down beneath this superficial view and consider the whole matter of reading; in its true light as the very basis of the child's thought, of his views of life, of the moral and ethical standards he is forming, the spirit that is awakening and quickening in him and the character that is unfolding. Books for children must be selected scientifically if we would prevent a wrong mentality in the adult."

The Bookhouse Guild, a corporation not for profit, is a national organization of children which exists for the purpose of stimulating culture among children and assisting in the building of the character of children.

LOCAL ELEVEN LOSE OPENING GRIDIRON GAME

Circleville High School Defeated, 19 To 6, In Contest At Marysville.

By DON RADER

The Circleville Tigers journeyed to Marysville Friday but went down to defeat by a score of 19 to 6. The game was a close fought contest, but heavy losses due to the 210 yards in penalties of off-side lost the game for the locals. In the first few minutes George Iles, Circleville's flashy half-back intercepted a pass that had been broken up and ran 70 yards for a touchdown.

Only one man came within tackling distance of Iles and Hoffman knocked him off. Hill played bang up football throughout the game, receiving passes and his hard plunging and tackling featured the Tiger's play. Heiskell and Davis did their share of long running and hard tackling.

TIGERS LIGHTER

The Marysville boys were slightly larger than the locals. Rupright of Marysville was responsible for most of their gains. Sink held all passes within reaching distance.

In the second quarter the Blue and White clad warriors carried the ball to Circleville's one yard line, and on a line buck scored six points but failed to kick goal. In the third quarter the blue jackets scored another touchdown through a line plunge and scored another punt on a goal, making the score 13 to 6 at the end of the third quarter.

THE FINAL BLOW

The fourth quarter looked brighter for the Tigers until a Marysville warrior ran at large, scoring another touchdown.

Why- QUALITY CAR BUYERS CHOOSE OLDSMOBILE

There are very definite reasons why so many quality car buyers are turning to Oldsmobile for motoring satisfaction—reasons that are apparent when you consider Oldsmobile's typical fine car performance, comfort, and dependability, combined with its low price.

Discriminating buyers find in Oldsmobile an engine at once responsive, smooth, and dependable—giving them everything they want in acceleration, speed, and power—with characteristic fine car features to assure the permanence of these qualities.

Buyers who look not only at the surface but beneath as well, discover in Oldsmobile's chassis the balanced design and sturdy construction that spell long life and quiet operation. They note the strength revealed by its big frame. They know that excellent riding qualities are assured by long, flexible springs and four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers. They find smart appearance and luxurious comfort generously provided in Oldsmobile's Fisher Bodies.

And in addition to such characteristic fine car qualities, these buyers discover ease of handling—ability to thread nimbly through crowded traffic or to park in restricted space without effort.

You, too, will find it a genuine revelation to examine and drive this car. Come in today and compare its value with that of other cars of the same or higher price. You will know then why Oldsmobile appeals so definitely to motorists who are accustomed to high quality in the cars they drive.

COTHAM IS CITY OF THE MISSING
More Than 23,000 Persons Disappeared in New York Last Year.

New York.—More than 23,000 persons were sought as missing in New York city last year, according to the annual report of the police department made public recently. This is the highest number since its inception, according to Inspector Lunn, temporarily in charge of this phase of the police work.

The figures for the current year, however, point to the establishment of a still higher record for 1936, bureau officials said recently. More than 12,000 persons have been reported missing so far this year, they said.

An analysis of the report shows that of the 23,147 actual cases reported for 1935, 22,240 cases were successfully concluded. This gives the missing persons bureau the excellent record of 96.12 per cent average of success. Inspector Lunn pointed out that the average rate of success in this work usually comes near 90 per cent.

17,050 Are Located.

The recapitulation of all the cases in the report divides them into those originating within New York city and those coming from other cities. On this basis the 1935 report reveals that 17,458 men and women from the five boroughs vanished. The missing persons bureau located 17,070 of these in various parts of the world. The remainder of the 23,000 for last year were handled either as unidentified dead or were reported to the bureau from out of town police departments. Of the 844 unidentified persons found dead within the environs of New York last year, 713 were identified.

The missing persons bureau located 4,637 persons who ran away from homes outside of this city. A total of 4,745 out of town cases were turned over to the bureau during the year. This leaves only 83 unaccounted for.

Tracked 200,000 Runaways.

The actual work of the bureau is handled by Capt. John H. Ayers with a staff consisting of 37 men and 6 women detectives. Captain Ayers assumed charge of this work in 1918. Since his induction into office, he has handled more than 200,000 runaways.

The totals in the report do not include criminals and fugitives from justice who are being sought by the police department on various charges. The persons in whom this bureau is interested are criminally inoffensive. The police interest in them is limited to merely locating them for harassed relatives and finding out why they ran away, Inspector Donovan said.

"Many of the runaways have tried to get away from their poor environment," Inspector Donovan pointed out. "They are in many instances children who have rebelled against a too rigid discipline by their parents or forced to flee overcrowded housing conditions of the poorer sections of the city. In about 60 per cent of the cases they return of their own volition, having found that paddling their own canoe in strange waters was too severe a task.

"The summer months always show a higher number of runaways. The heat probably stirs their wanderlust. In the case of runaway children, the parents are often at fault because they forget that children require a certain amount of liberty."

WHEN THE BRUTE REIGNS
The kidnapping of the textile strike leaders in North Carolina makes dismal reading.

It isn't pleasant to think of that scene by the dark roadside; a man, stripped and bound, flogged with sticks and straps by his angry captors, his two companions watching, the three menaced with hanging when they were sufficiently beaten.

The question of the textile strike itself does not enter into this episode. The kidnapping and flogging are things that can arouse only the disgust of decent people.

Yet it will not do to dismiss the affair as the work of plug-uglies and back-alley toughs. There were such people in the mob, of course; there are in all mobs. The really discouraging thing is the thing that is discouraging about every outbreak of mob violence—the fact that it was, in the main, the work of men who are ordinarily law-abiding and kind-hearted; men who are, in other words, good, average citizens.

Every violent mob is nothing but a collection of such men who have temporarily, under the lash of fear or deep anger, given up all control of their passions and stopped using their reasoning powers.

That is what makes an affair of this kind so disheartening to read about and think about.

Not the display of brutality and senseless rage—but the fact that that brutality and that rage lie so close to the surface in all of us, and can be given free reign on such slight provocation.

You and I can sit back and wring our hands over the action that North Carolina mob—but are we quite sure that we, ourselves, would not join in a similar mob if the circumstances were right?

Mob violence isn't peculiar to any one state or section. People are much alike everywhere. Every state and every town has its own sorry record. Rouse the fear, the anger, the suspicion or the hatred of men past a certain point, and they will become capable of almost any cruelty, any violence.

Each of us has a devil on the inside—a devil, a wild beast, a volcano—call it what you please. It lurks there along with the nobler elements in human nature. Side by side with the spirit that can create beauty, make sacrifices and toss life away for an intangible cause there exists the brute that can commit horrible excesses.

The barbaric caves of the race's infancy aren't so very far behind us, after all.

That's what every outbreak of mob violence proves: And that's why every outbreak is so profoundly depressing.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.
Eddie Regan, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped to Virginia, where he meets Marian Thorndike. He realizes the difference between Marian and himself and determines to win her love. Bernice Veressi, "gang girl," who was in love with Eddie, is forgotten in Eddie's dreams of Marian. Penfield Paradise, last member of an aristocratic Southern family, whom Eddie befriends, dies and leaves Eddie all his possessions. Eddie works hard on the farm. Suddenly finding himself alone with Marian, who has come to him for help after being thrown off her horse, he kisses her and tells her of his love. Marian accuses herself of leading him on and tells him it is hopeless, but he jealously inquires as to the other women in his life.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIV.
THERE was no eloquence in his speech; the words came with nervous jerks as he was aware that he was lacking in the power of any spoken romance that would warm her heart. Merely, in his stumbling fashion he was trying to set before her the one fact that obsessed him.

Nor was he disappointed that she did not love him. An easy victory had been no part of his expectations. Her lips, warm and quivering upon his, had not seemed like the lips of other girls and he was not disappointed into thinking that a kiss, however ecstatic, bridged the gulf between them; but his mind held resolutely to the conviction that behind her ethereal beauty and poised culture she was fundamentally human and that, in time, he might become worthy in her eyes. This, he realized, was sheer stubbornness of purpose on his part, but without it, all life would be a barren vacuum.

"You seem so terribly sincere that you make me ashamed of myself," she told him. "Of course the whole thing is an impossibility and always will be—that's why I feel so badly."

"It might be impossible if what I feel wasn't permanent," he responded, "but it is—the way I feel about you is indestructible and I don't believe I should ever cease loving like that if it meant nothing."

His thoughts were carrying them into a region so purely speculative that Marian felt a necessity of returning to the purely practical.

"You've got to get this out of your head or it will do you harm," she said. "You'll be better off if you forget all about it."

"It won't do any harm and I can't forget about it," he told her firmly. "If you don't want to hear any more about it, I'll keep still."

"I think that might be better," she said, slowly. "Still we could be friends perhaps."

"And how," he declared, with a flashing return of his New York vernacular.

"But not," she added, "if it is going to put both of us under a strain. I'll always be a girl when I look at you and I'm sure that you are carrying around a sort of forced-lie in your mind. I'm afraid."

"I like it," he said, and looked tell me honestly—don't make you exactly right?—don't let me know that there's a guy like me worshipping you."

For the first time he spoke to him shrilly.

"I'm through talking about it," she declared. "I don't want to get her, with swift concern for her bruised condition. A voice from outside called out a halloo. Eddie sat a lighted candle in the living room and stepped on the porch. A head was thrust out of the car and a full, noisy voice demanded:

"She is here," Eddie said.

"The voice boomed with surprise. 'The Hell!' A bulky body climbed out of the automobile. 'Is she hurt?'"

"Not much. Come on inside."

Writer Gives Us New Picture of Kitchener
It was while Kitchener's train was waiting at Elandsburg that I was introduced by a member of his staff. My first sensation was one of disappointment. "He" was a tall, lean, heavy-looking man with a forbidding, rather repulsive face.

He had a slight curl in one eye, and his manner at that interview was a little harsh and overbearing. The Tommy who described him as "Gordon's young brother Alf" was understanding.

And yet Kitchener was in truth a very gentle, shy and simple soul. He was a fantastic suggestion, but I shall always contend that G. W. Stevens ruined Kitchener when he wrote his fanciful picture of the man in "With Kitchener to Kampuchea."

Stevens shows him as a man of blood—a man without heart of compassion, remorseless, cold, relentless. I have the impression that Kitchener spent the greater part of his life trying to live up to that reputation, and that his facility, his seeming boldness, and his invincible aloofness, were due to another man's mistake which he had all too will-ingly accepted—Edgar Wallace, in his story "People."

GRETA, NILS IN HOT FILM
New Brand of Love Seen In "The Single Standard" At Cliftona Theater.

Drifting over the blue of the broad Pacific on a windjammer cajoled with romance, Greta Garbo and Nils Asther land with a new brand of screen love in "The Single Standard," which will dock Sunday at the Cliftona Theater, flying the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer flag, and accompanied by musical and sound synchronization.

With John S. Robertson at the helm, this sensational Adela Rogers St. John story has been picture-tized with a romantic tang seldom approached in film fare and provides as gripping a climax as was ever filmed in a plot of triangular motivation. Johnny Mack Brown, who shares leading man honors with Asther as the devoted husband of the tempestuous woman in the case, repeats the dramatic triumph he scored in "Coquette."

Another back again with Garbo after making his debut with her in "Wild Orchids" gives a splendid and convincing performance in his new role, a difficult one indeed. The supporting cast includes Dorothy Sebastian, Kathryn Williams, Lane Chandler, Robert Castle and others of note.

Fighting Fire in Home
In case a fire starts in a room, close all doors and windows to prevent a draft. Give the alarm promptly. A few pulls of water thrown on at first may do more good than thousands of gallons later. A blaze may often be smothered with a rug or blanket. If the clothes catch fire, lay the patient flat on the floor at once; running about fans the flames, which tend to burn upward toward the face. Smother the flames with a heavy coat, rug or blanket. If water is not at hand.

Watermarks in Paper
Watermarks in paper have been used for a long time to lend distinction to the product of a particular paper maker and for other purposes. One of the oldest, a circle surrounded by a tall cross, is found in documents dating back to the fourteenth century. Other old marks are the fleur-de-lis, the court tester, the lion's head, the hand pointing to a five-pointed star and the tankard, well known in papers of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

The kidnapping of the textile strike leaders in North Carolina makes dismal reading.

It isn't pleasant to think of that scene by the dark roadside; a man, stripped and bound, flogged with sticks and straps by his angry captors, his two companions watching, the three menaced with hanging when they were sufficiently beaten.

The question of the textile strike itself does not enter into this episode. The kidnapping and flogging are things that can arouse only the disgust of decent people.

Yet it will not do to dismiss the affair as the work of plug-uglies and back-alley toughs. There were such people in the mob, of course; there are in all mobs. The really discouraging thing is the thing that is discouraging about every outbreak of mob violence—the fact that it was, in the main, the work of men who are ordinarily law-abiding and kind-hearted; men who are, in other words, good, average citizens.

Every violent mob is nothing but a collection of such men who have temporarily, under the lash of fear or deep anger, given up all control of their passions and stopped using their reasoning powers.

That is what makes an affair of this kind so disheartening to read about and think about.

Not the display of brutality and senseless rage—but the fact that that brutality and that rage lie so close to the surface in all of us, and can be given free reign on such slight provocation.

You and I can sit back and wring our hands over the action that North Carolina mob—but we are quite sure that we, ourselves, would not join in a similar mob if the circumstances were right?

Mob violence isn't peculiar to any one state or section. People are much alike everywhere. Every state and every town has its own sorry record. Rouse the fear, the anger, the suspicion or the hatred of men past a certain point, and they will become capable of almost any cruelty, any violence.

Each of us has a devil on the inside—a devil, a wild beast, a volcano—call it what you please. It lurks there along with the nobler elements in human nature. Side by side with the spirit that can create beauty, make sacrifices and toss life away for an intangible cause there exists the brute that can commit horrible excesses.

The barbaric caves of the race's infancy aren't so very far behind us, after all.

That's what every outbreak of mob violence proves. And that's why every outbreak is so profoundly depressing.

GOATHAM IS CITY OF THE MISSING

More Than 23,000 Persons Disappeared in New York Last Year.

New York.—More than 23,000 persons were sought as missing in New York city last year, according to the annual report of the police department made public recently. This is the highest number of cases reported by the bureau since its inception, according to Inspector Donovan, temporarily in charge of this phase of the police work.

The figures for the current year, however, point to the establishment of a still higher record for 1929, but bureau officials said recently. More than 12,000 persons have been reported missing so far this year, they said.

An analysis of the report shows that of the 23,147 actual cases reported for 1928, 22,420 cases were successfully concluded. This gives the bureau a record of 97.02 per cent average of success. Inspector Donovan pointed out that the average rate of success in this work usually comes near 99 per cent.

17,050 Are Located.
The recapitulation of all the cases in the report divides them into those originating within New York city and those coming from other cities. On this basis the 1928 report reveals that 17,458 men and women from the five boroughs vanished. The missing persons bureau located 17,050 of these in various parts of the world. The remainder of the 23,000 for last year were handled either as unidentified dead or were reported to the bureau from out of town police departments. Of the 844 unidentified persons found dead within the environs of New York last year, 713 were identified.

The missing persons bureau located 4,657 persons who ran away from homes outside of this city. A total of 4,745 out of town cases were turned over to the bureau during the year. This leaves only 88 unaccounted for.

Tracked 200,000 Runaways.
The actual work of the bureau is handled by Capt. John H. Ayers with a staff consisting of 37 men and 6 women detectives. Captain Ayers assumed charge of this work in 1918. Since his induction into office he has handled more than 200,000 runaways.

The totals in the report do not include criminals and fugitives from justice who are being sought by the police department on various charges. The persons in whom this bureau is interested are criminals, innocents or forced to flee overcrowded housing conditions of the poorer sections of the city. In about 60 per cent of the cases they return of their own volition, having found that paddling their own canoe in strange waters was too severe a task.

"The summer months always show a higher number of runaways. The heat probably stirs their wanderlust. In the case of runaway children, the parents are often at fault because they forget that children require a certain amount of liberty."

"Many of the runaways have tried to get away from their poor environment," Inspector Donovan pointed out. "They are in many instances children who have been reared against a too rigid discipline by their parents or forced to flee overcrowded housing conditions of the poorer sections of the city. In about 60 per cent of the cases they return of their own volition, having found that paddling their own canoe in strange waters was too severe a task."

ANOTHER SUMMER TRAGEDY?

Blue Blood And Red

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Eddie Regan, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped to Virginia, where he meets Marian Thorndike. He realizes the difference between Marian and himself and determines to win her love. Bernice Veressi, "gang girl," who was in love with Eddie, is forgotten in Eddie's dreams of Marian. Penfield Paradise, last member of an aristocratic Southern family, whom Eddie befriends, dies and leaves Eddie all his possessions. Eddie works hard on the farm. Suddenly finding himself alone with Marian, who has come to him for help after being thrown off her horse, he kisses her and tells her of his love. Marian accuses herself of leading him on and says she is hopeless, but he is not so sure.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIV.
THERE was no eloquence in his speech; the words came with nervous jerks as he was aware that he was lacking in the power of any spoken romance that would warm her heart. Merely, in his stumbling fashion he was trying to set before her the one fact that obsessed him.

Nor was he disappointed that she did not love him. An easy victory had been no part of his expectations. Her lips, warm and quivering upon his, had not seemed like the lips of other girls and he was not disappointed in thinking that a kiss, however ecstatic, bridged the gulf between them; but his mind held resolutely to the conviction that behind her ethereal beauty and poised culture she was fundamentally human and that, in time, he might become worthy in her eyes. This, he realized, was sheer stubbornness of purpose on his part, but without it, all life would be a barren vacuum.

"You seem so terribly sincere that you make me ashamed of myself," she told him. "Of course the whole thing is an impossibility and always will be—that's why I feel so badly."

"It might be impossible if what I feel wasn't permanent," he responded, "but it is—the way I feel about you is indestructible and I don't believe I would have a feeling like that if it meant nothing."

His thoughts were carrying them into a region so purely speculative that Marian felt a necessity of returning to the purely practical.

"You've got to get this out of your head or it will do you harm," she said. "You'll be better off if you forget all about it."

"It won't do any harm and I can't forget about it," he told her, firmly. "If you don't want to hear any more about it I'll keep still."

"I think that might be better," she said, slowly. "Still we could be friends perhaps."

"And how!" he declared, with a flashing return of his New York vernacular.

"But not," she added, "if it is going to put both of us under a strain. I'll always feel guilty when I look at you and I'll know that you are carrying around a sort of love-delusion in your mind. I'm afraid, Eddie Regan, that we've got ourselves into hot water."

"I like it," he said. "And look—tell me honestly—it doesn't make you exactly miserable, does it, to know that there's a guy like me worshipping you?"

For the first time she spoke to him sharply.
"I'm through talking about it," she declared. "I want you to get her, with swift concern for her bruised condition. A voice from outside called out a halloo. Eddie sat a lighted candle in the living room and stepped on the porch. A hand was thrust out of the car and a full, noisy voice demanded:

"Say? I'm out looking for Miss Thorndike." Her horse went home with an empty saddle this evening and everybody's out looking for her. "Did you see her pass your place this afternoon?"

your own good, I advise you to quit thinking about me at all."

Her tone was almost vindictive and the sudden sharpness of it, stabbed through Eddie's breast like an icicle. What he had feared came true—he had pressed forward too far and too rapidly.

"That's O. K. with me," he said, forcing a crispness into his voice.

"I'm not crazy about forcing myself on anybody where I am not wanted. You're right—I've been a fool to go on like this while you were sitting there knocked out from your fall. You ought to be home and in bed right now. I am going to hitch up the horse to the buggy if you will let me—unless you want me to telephone your father now."

"No," she said, quietly, "I'll ride home with you."

There was the sound of an automobile in the yard. They looked at each other and both were slightly and uncomfortably startled.

So completely had Eddie and Marian been engrossed with the love-issue that the sound of an automobile under the door jarred them both with surprise. Eddie was on his feet instantly and the girl sat up-right in her chair.

"Don't you move," he said to mind Eddie of a bullfrog. Instantly, and for no explainable reason the atmosphere between them became charged with a vague antagonism.

"She's in the front room," Eddie said.

The feet that tramped across the hall and into the room made harsh sounds on the floor. Eddie's eyes looked at the man's back and noted that his legs were thick in the calves.

"Hello, Tom," Marian said, casually.

"Say, what under the sun are you doing here?" the visitor inquired, with an authoritative ring in his voice. "Don't you know your folks have been half scared to death, thinking you might've fallen off your horse and got killed? Me and half dozen others have been looking all over for you for a couple of hours."

Marian smiled at him. "I am sorry," she said, meekly. "I should have phoned home right away. The fall I got shook me up a bit and it happened right outside Mr. Regan's place so I came up here—but I don't believe you gentlemen know each other. This is Tom Freeman, Mr. Regan."

And yet Kitchener was in truth a very gentle, shy and simple soul. It may seem a fantastic suggestion, but I shall always contend that G. W. Stevens ruined Kitchener when he wrote his fanciful pen-picture of the man in "With Kitchener to Khartoum."

Stevens shows him as a man of ice and blood—a man without bowels of compassion, remorseless, ruthless, relentless. I have the impression that Kitchener spent the greater part of his life trying to live up to that reputation, and that all his ferocity, his seeming boorishness, and his invariable aloofness, were due to another man's estimate which he had all too willingly accepted.—Edgar Wallace, in his autobiography, "People."

Coffee in West Indies

A few seedlings of the coffee plant raised from Arabian berries were brought by a sailing ship in 1720 to the West Indies. They were sent from the Jardin des Plantes in Paris to the French colony of Martinique.

GRETA, NILS IN HOT FILM

New Brand of Love Seen In "The Single Standard" At Cliftona Theater.

Drifting over the blue of the broad Pacific on a windjammer, Greta Garbo and Nils Asther land with a new brand of screen love in "The Single Standard," which will dock Sunday at the Cliftona Theater, flying the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer flag, and accompanied by musical and sound synchronization.

With John S. Robertson at the helm, this sensational Adela Rogers St. John story has been picture-turized with a romantic tang seldom approached in film fare and provides as gripping a climax as was ever filmed in a plot of triangular motivation. Johnny Mack Brown, who shares leading man honors with Asther as the devoted husband of the tempestuous woman in the case, repeats the dramatic triumph he scored in "Coquette."

Another back again with Garbo after making his debut with her in "Wild Orchids" gives a splendid

and convincing performance in his new role, a difficult one indeed. The supporting cast includes Dorothy Sebastian, Kathryn Williams, Lane Chandler, Robert Castle and others of note.

Fighting Fire in Home

In case a fire starts in a room, close all doors and windows to prevent a draft. Give the alarm promptly. A few pails of water thrown on at first may do more good than thousands of gallons later. A blaze may often be smothered with a rug or blanket. If the clothes catch fire, lay the patient flat on the floor at once; running about fans the flames, which tend to burn upward toward the face. Smother the flames with a heavy coat, rug or blanket, if water is not at hand.

Watermarks in Paper

Watermarks in paper have been used for a long time to lend distinction to the product of a particular paper maker and for other purposes. One of the oldest is found in documents dating back to the Fourteenth century. Other old marks are the fleur-de-lis, the court jester, the huntsman's horn, the hand pointing to a five-pointed star and the tankard, well known in papers of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries.

Closely Allied

There are no friends more inseparable than pride and hardness of heart, humility and love, falsehood and impudence.—Lavater.

Shakespeare's Great Drama Of the life of Shakespeare's historical hero, the drama "King Henry IV" is the most brilliant and varied. It was estimated by Verplanck, the most popular of all dramatic compositions in the English language. Composed in 1591 or 1592, it was first printed in the latter year. In this play Shakespeare first introduced the character of Sir John Falstaff.

Clever Hiding Places for Family Treasures

In this day of checking accounts, safe deposit vaults, wall safes, burglary insurance, of purses on steamships and clerks in hotels who safeguard our valuables for us, it is difficult even to imagine what must have been the anxiety in the days when every woman had to look after her treasures for herself. And yet even our grandmothers in some instances tell us of the way they hid their jewels deep within the feathers of the bed, of hiding their money in the wide hems of their skirts. And the secret drawers and slides and cubby holes that we find in interesting old pieces of furniture bear witness to the fact that women of former generations have had a far less easy time of it to hide their treasures than we do.

In the bureaus, desks and other pieces of furniture made by the master cabinetmakers of the eighteenth century in France and England much time and skill were used in making these secret hide away places—the location of which and method of opening was often kept a deep secret between the maker of the piece and the owner.

Two new exchange papers have been received this year: The Densonian from Denison University, Granville, Ohio and the Delaware high school paper.OUR CAMPUS
No papers or sticks have been seen on the school lawn so far this year. Many students, during their summer vacations, saw and admired the beautiful lawns of other schools and have decided to gambol elsewhere in order to help keep our green beautiful. This lawn has been well kept up all summer and will continue to be so with the help of the students. No restrictions or rules concerning the use or care of it have been necessary as yet and it is hoped that there will be no need for them in the future.That lawn represents the school to visitors and strangers. Watch it!ATHLETICS BODY ORGANIZES At 3:05 p. m. Wednesday the student body assembled in the auditorium for the purpose of electing officers of the Circleville high school athletic association for the year of 1929 and 1930. To arouse interest of the students, Principal Gephart called for speeches from John Heiskell and Loring Davis.Heiskell's talk was based on the value of the athletic association to the school. As it was explained the purpose of the association is to boost the team, buy equipment necessary to send a neat looking team on the field, and to create interest in athletics. Membership fees are $1.00 so John finished his speech with "Don't forget your dollar."Captain Davis was next presented by the principal. As everyone knows "Jagg" is very modest and bashful like a small school boy,
so he just can't keep from blushing. "Jagg's" talk was based on the value of a large crowd of cheering students to the team.When a team is running up against old man jinx and everyone is feeling blue, a rousing cheer from the quiet students on the side line will give the boys courage and spur them on to victory. The football boys practice every evening rain or shine, students do your part and show the boys that you appreciate their efforts, to put C.
H. S. on the map. It only costs a lonely dollar, so go home and rake up some loose change and if you are a few pennies short just ask your father or mother and in other cases maybe grandma or grandpaw would cast a few pennies toward your shining goal," he said.Loring Davis, Robert Rooney, and John Heiskell were nominated for president. Davis was elected by acclamation.A new student, Charles Maynard McCallister with Martha Mader, Wilbur Adkins and Grace Steele were nominated for vice-president. Again we saw the triumph of an old custom and a newcomer to the local ranks of knowledge seekers was elected to office when McCallister formerly of Williamsport won by a large majority.The following were selected for nomination for secretary-treasurer: Malcolm Russell, Linden Baughman and Doris Peters. The latter was elected.Membership tickets will be on sale in the first floor corridor, Monday and Tuesday at one dollar each.WHAT! NO PICNIC!
The faculty picnic, which all members had looked anxiously forward to, didn't happen. Why?
The chairman of the committee stated that rain held up everything. The principal also sent word around to the teachers Monday afternoon that melons were on sale at 20c. Many students wondered if this was all that they intended to make "whoopie" on, if so, the rain couldn't have detained much.

SENIORS ORGANIZE

Thursday, at a general meeting of all seniors Malcolm Russell, Jinsy Mader and Edgar Clarke were nominated for president for '29 and '30. Wilbur Adkins, Evelyn Steele and Bob Rector were nominated for the vice-presidency.
Evelyn Steele, who was president during the freshman term received this office. Hugh Cartright was elected secretary-treasurer having received a majority of votes over Charles Kirkpatrick and Mary Mae Haswell.Vice-president Steele, in the absence of president Russell, who was at football practice, took charge of the meetings. It was decided to send flowers to Harold Davis '30, who has been in White
Cross hospital for several weeks.

THE SPIRITS ORGANIZE

Members of the local chapter of National Theatians showed the first signs of activity by organizing Monday afternoon. Jeanne Crowe and Howard Greene were nominated for president. The result was a tie and Greene won by the toss of a coin. Jeanne Crowe was elected vice president and Mary Mae Haswell, secretary-treasurer.The Theatians will select and sponsor the school plays, however troups for parts in these plays will be open impartially, to any student in C. H. S. who is interested.Members of the society who attended the first meeting are: Linden Baughman, James Brown, Hugh Cartright, Peggy Court-
right, Jeanne Crowe, Howard Greene, Mary Mae Haswell, John
Heiskell, Elizabeth Roundhouse, Margie Hunsicker, Charles Kirkpatrick and Director J. W. Fether-lin.

HI-Y MEETING

Tuesday at 12:15 the Hi-Y met in the general science room for their first business meeting with President Hugh Cartright in charge. The following members were present: E. I. Gephart, V. E.
Keeler, Sheldon Mader, Richard Nickerson, Robert Rooney, Malcolm Russell, Robert Rector, Edgar Clark and Clarence Barnhart.Mr. Keeler, who has been taken into the club as assistant advisor, gave a very interesting and helpful talk in which he advised the club on many topics and discussed means by which the club could be made more active. He suggested that in the selection of proposed candidates application blanks be passed out for any pupil interested in joining the club to fill out. The plan was immediately adopted and will be used this year.President Cartright appointed a program committee of the following whose duty will be to prepare a program for each meeting:
Chairman Malcolm Russell, Richard Nickerson and Edgar Clark.It was decided that the club would take charge of one chapel session in the coming season, and that it would also sponsor one pep meeting.Members who are not football men are urged to try to keep off the fence anyone who may try to get in during a football game.

EPSILON MU SIGMA

Gladys Harris, last year's president took charge of the first part of the first formal business meeting of the E. M. S. which was held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the study hall.An election of officers was held with the following result: President Doris Peters; Vice President Grace Steel; Secretary and Treasurer Mary Margaret Moore. The clubs now consists of the following members: Gladys Harris, Helen Palm, Helen Celler and those mentioned.Immediately after her election to the presidency, Miss Peters gave a speech of appreciation in which she declared she would do her best for the good of the club.The constitution of the club was read by the new vice president. A new amendment was then passed.
It stated that no member could miss two meetings in succession or three meetings throughout the year without special permission from Miss Kuhlman.The club is going to present in chapel Monday a flag of the state to the school. The presentation will be by Uncle Doc Robinson, sergeant of arms and usodian in the House of Representatives of the state of Ohio.After the meeting was adjourned fortune telling games provided the entertainment.This was followed by the serving of delicious refreshments by the hostesses of the evening
Grace Steel and Doris Peters.The Epsilon Mu Sigma is very sorry to lose two active members of the club, Peggy Cartright and Mary Margaret Moore to irresponsibility.At the meeting to be held next week there will be an initiation of new members. There are 12 eligible.

when thrown from a bicycle.

ENGLISH TEST GIVEN

A standard preliminary general diagnostic test in grammatical usage, prepared by Mullen and Lanz of California, was given to all freshmen and juniors in English classes Tuesday for the purpose of discovering the prevalence and nature of faulty habits of expression in order to estimate the amount and kind of grammar drill needed in each case to eliminate individual errors.High in the junior class was 97, low, 73; median 69. High in the freshman class was 92; low 32;
median 66.Grace Steele 97, Gertrude Lan-man 95, Robert Rooney and Cleo
Brown 92, Jeannette Bower 90,
Abram Gordon and Lucille Dumm
88, Mary A. Ryan, Zelma Hoffman,
Jessie Cummings and John Hegele 87, and Clarence Barnhart 85 were high scorers for the junior class.Margaret Buskirk 92, Rhoda Goff and Rose Mary Jackson 90,
Howard Ater and John Mason 87,
Avenell Haacker 85, Charlotte
Caskie, Sara May, Ned Griner and Ruth Moffitt 83, Dorothy Thompson 72, Alice Cummings, Lillian Binkley, Gene Rader and Sarah Steinhauer 82, Elwood McCreary and Mary Jane Lowe 80, were high scorers for the freshmen class.

REFERENCES FOR ENGLISH

A volume of 12 reference books entitled English in Fact and Story for reference use in fourth year
English classes, has been purchased for C. H. S. According to Miss Watson these will be used entirely for reference work and will give the student a more vivid knowledge of English.

COMMERCIAL GOSSIP

Mildred Greenlee, a junior, has been appointed as clerk to Mr.
Keeler for this year.Typing students are busy on their first assignments. The beginners are seemingly having a difficult time learning the keyboard, while some of the advanced have not as yet limbered up as they seem to be still making errors.Several advanced students are busy typing the registration sheets for the different schools.Bookkeeping students are working on exercises in their textbooks and some are making very good progress.Business English classes have been studying the use of correct English.

MANUAL TRAINING NEWS

A new course in metal work has been introduced this year in the metal work department. The course will take up sheet metal work, plumbing, forging and a study of the care and repair of the automobile. Three classes have thus far been enrolled in the new course given in metal work.A new course is offered to the special education students this year. The new course will take up household mechanics.Several students are busily engaged in constructing a large table which will be installed in Principal Gephart's office.Sophomores were given instructions as to the use and care of the machinery in the woodwork department, Monday.

SCIENCE DEMONSTRATES

Demonstration experiments are now being conducted in general science classes by Mr. Watts. The experiments are the preparation of oxygen, carbon dioxide and nitrogen, and a discussion of the relative importance of these gases.
This is the freshman's first taste of demonstration experiments in science and they seem intensely interested. Next week physical and chemical changes will be discussed.

FRESH PLAY BALL

Freshman boys under the leadership of J. W. Fetherlin have organized two recreation baseball teams. During the physical education period these teams will oppose each other in games.Under the captaincy of O. Miller, the following boys will play:
Laughlin, first baseman; R. Davis, second baseman; Turex, third baseman; Dowden, right s. s.; Frank,
O. Miller, pitcher; Davis, catcher; left s. s.; Ammer, right field and left field.These boys who will be captain-ed by John Cummings are Cummings p. Hitchcock, c. Eldridge, 1st b. Horn, 2nd b. J. Mader, 3rd b. C. Rader, r. s. s. J. Sty-ler, l. s. s.; Robinson, r. f.; Weller, c. f.; Moore, l. f.; Stonerock and J. Teale will act as Mr. Fether-lin's assistants in refereeing.

SENIOR GIRLS AHEAD

Senior and junior girls have organized recreation ball teams.
Jinsy Mader is captain of the seniors and Doris Peters of the juniors. Each day the teams play a game each other during physical education. So far the seniors lead by one point.

EIGHTH GRADE NEWS

A new student, Sula Birchwell, has enrolled in the eighth grade.
She formerly attended school at Derbyville.

CHAPEL

National constitution week was observed Monday morning during the chapel period when S. T. Rife gave an interesting talk upon the subject, "Our Changing Constitution."In this talk, Mr. Rife discussed thoroughly representative government, dual citizenship and guaranteed personal liberty.Dwight Wier, '24, then entertained the audience with several violin numbers. Among these were
"Canzonetta," by Godard, "Ah,
Sweet Mystery of Life," "Serenade," by Piere and extracts from "Thais." Elizabeth Roundhouse accompanied him at the piano.

DEGREES CONFERRED

Degrees or merit given by the National Forensic League for praiseworthy participation in in-terscholastic debates have been received by Veronica Kunhs, Alice Roof and Marie Kellstadt. They were elected members of the Ohio
General chapter of the National Forensic League last year and received the key to that organization before the closing of school in June.During their high school career these girls successfully debated Lancaster, Washington C. H., and Portsmouth high schools three seasons.It is a great honor to be a member of such a league, and it is hoped that more Circleville students may be privileged to join this year.

PRINCE OF PEACE CONTEST

The Ohio Council of Churches is now staging the fifth Prince of Peace Declaration contest, open to all students between the ages of 14 and 18.Principal Gephart urges all students of C. H. S. to enter, because as yet no student of C. H. S. has been a contestant.Students who wish to enter can enroll with the pastor, of their local church. The pastor of the church will give them a booklet containing many declarations.
When the contestant is able to memorize one of these declarations he or she has a chance to win a prize. The prizes are:
first—$400 and a four-year scholarship; second—$200 and a two year scholarship; third—$100 and a one year scholarship; fourth, fifth and sixth—$50 each.

NEW BOOKS

Many new books are being used in C. H. S. this year. Some are new revised editions replacing old ones, while others are entirely new.As the State Department of Education requires two years of science in high school, chemistry and physics will be alternated each year here.This year a new book, entitled "Practical Physics," by Black and Davis, is being used. This book contains both mathematical and science instruction, and will be used generally in the "lab." Another new book being used by Mr.
Guthrie, entitled "Factors of Economic Geography," by Staples and York, is being used because the most essential factors in commerce and geography are stressed.Freshmen entering high school will meet with an entirely new science book this year. This book is written by Caldwell and Curtis, entitled "Introduction to Science."
In this book freshmen students gain a vivid knowledge of both science and mathematical instruction. Mr. Watts has been given the task of teaching it.A revised edition of ancient and medieval history for sophomores written by Robinson and Breasted, is being taught by Miss Kuhlman.
A revised edition of bookkeeping written by Baker and Puckett is being taught by Mr. Keeler. He is also teaching a new edition of shorthand by Gregg.This year American History will be taught the full year to seniors by Mr. Gephart, as last year the juniors obtained a knowledge of civics. Mr. Gephart has also selected a notebook of map exercises and syllabus by Bishop and Robinson. In this notebook many maps are outlined and tracing paper for the students is included.
Students outline the territories on the map. All of these books and new editions were selected because they more simply present to the student a better knowledge of the study.Mr. Keeler was responsible for conducting the book sale in such an efficient manner and John Him-rod and Don Wolfe acted as his assistants.

MELBA PEARCE RECOVERING

badly burned on the left leg Monday morning in the domestic science department when a pan of boiling water was accidentally upset near her.Miss Pigman and Coach Guthrie attended her and later removed her to her home.Melba has recovered sufficiently to resume her classes Monday, it is said.

ELABORATE DINNER ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Marigolds with their brilliant yellow and green were the keynote for a color motive of these two shades Friday night, when Mrs.
Robert Young of Clearcreek-twp entertained with a dinner and bridge at 6:30 o'clock. Other fall flowers added a contrast to the scene, while the yellow and green scheme was completed in the mint and dessert served as the last course at dinner.Nine card tables were occupied during the evening among which the guests moved in an interesting procession of auction bridge. At a word from the hostess after the fifth hand, the scores were tallied resulting in three high prizes being taken by Mrs. Harold Grant,
Mrs. L. E. Davidson and Miss Flo

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Two new exchange papers have been received this year: The Denisonian from Denison University, Granville, Ohio and the Delaware high school paper.

OUR CAMPUS

No papers or sticks have been seen on the school lawn so far this year. Many students, during their summer vacations, saw and admired the beautiful lawns of other schools and have decided to gamble elsewhere in order to help keep our green beautiful. This lawn has been well kept up all summer and will continue to be so with the help of the students. No restrictions or rules concerning the use or care of it have been necessary as yet and it is hoped that there will be no need for them in the future.

That lawn represents the school to visitors and strangers. Watch it!

ATHLETICS BODY ORGANIZES

At 3:05 p. m. Wednesday the student body assembled in the auditorium for the purpose of electing officers of the Circleville high school athletic association for the year of 1929 and 1930. To arouse interest of the students, Principal Gephart called for speeches from John Heiskell and Loring Davis.

Heiskell's talk was based on the value of the athletic association to the school. As it was explained the purpose of the association is to boost the team, buy equipment necessary to send a neat looking team on the field, and to create interest in athletics. Membership fees are $1.00 so John finished his speech with "Don't forget your dollar."

Captain Davis was next presented by the principal. As everyone knows "Jags" is very modest and bashful like a small school boy, so he just can't keep from blushing. "Jags" talk was based on the value of a large crowd of cheering students to the team.

"When a team is running up against old man jinx and everyone is feeling blue, a rousing cheer from the quiet students on the side line will give the boys courage and spur them on to victory. The football boys practice every evening rain or shine, students do your part and show the boys that you appreciate their efforts, to put C. H. S. on the map. It only costs a lonely dollar, so go home and rake up some loose change and if you are a few pennies short just ask your father or mother and in other cases maybe grandma or grandpa would cast a few pennies toward your shining goal," he said.

Loring Davis, Robert Rooney, and John Heiskell were nominated for president. Davis was elected by acclamation.

A new student, Charles Maynard McCallister with Martha Mader, Wilbur Adkins and Grace Steele were nominated for vice-president. Again we saw the triumph of an old custom and a newcomer to the local ranks of knowledge seekers was elected to office when McCallister formerly of Williamsport won by a large majority.

The following were selected for nomination for secretary-treasurer: Malcom Russell, Linden Baughman and Doris Peters. The latter was elected.

Membership tickets will be on sale in the first floor corridor, Monday and Tuesday at one dollar each.

WHAT! NO PICNIC!

The faculty picnic, which all members had looked anxiously forward too, didn't happen. Why? The chairman of the committee stated that rain held up everything. The principal also sent word around to the teachers Monday afternoon that melons were on sale at 20c. Many students wondered if this was all that they intended to make "whoopee" on, if so, the rain couldn't have detained much.

SENIORS ORGANIZE

Thursday, at a general meeting of all seniors Malcolm Russell, Jinsy Mader and Edgar Clarke were nominated for president for '29 and '30. Wilbur Adkins, Evelyn Steele and Bob Rector were nominated for the vice-presidency. Evelyn Steele, who was president during the freshman term received this office. Hugh Cartright was elected secretary-treasurer having received a majority of votes over Charles Kirkpatrick and Mary Mae Haswell.

Vice-president Steele, in the absence of president Russell, who was at football practice, took charge of the meetings. It was decided to send flowers to Harold Davis '30, who has been in White Cross hospital for several weeks.

THESPIANS ORGANIZE

Members of the local chapter of National Thespians showed the first signs of activity by organizing Monday afternoon. Jeanne Crowe and Howard Greene were nominated for president. The result was a tie and Greene won by the toss of a coin. Jeanne Crowe was elected vice president and Mary Mae Haswell, secretary-treasurer.

The Thespians will select and sponsor the school plays, however tryouts for parts in these plays will be open, impartially, to any student in C. H. S. who is interested.

Members of the society who attended the first meeting are: Linden Baughman, James Brown, Hugh Cartright, Peggy Courtwright, Jeanne Crowe, Howard Greene, Mary Mae Haswell, John Heiskell, Elizabeth Roundhouse, Margie Hunsicker, Charles Kirkpatrick and Director J. W. Fetherlin.

HI-Y MEETING

Tuesday at 12:15 the Hi-Y met in the general science room for their first business meeting with President Hugh Cartright in charge. The following members were present: E. I. Gephart, V. E. Keeler, Sheldon Mader, Richard Nickerson, Robert Rooney, Malcom Russell, Robert Rector, Edgar Clark and Clarence Barnhart.

Mr. Keeler, who has been taken into the club as assistant advisor, gave a very interesting and helpful talk in which he advised the club on many topics and discussed means by which the club could be made more active. He suggested that in the selection of proposed candidates application blanks be passed out for any pupil interested in joining the club to fill out. The plan was immediately adopted and will be used this year.

President Cartright appointed a program committee of the following whose duty will be to prepare a program for each meeting: Chairman Malcom Russell, Richard Nickerson and Edgar Clark.

It was decided that the club would take charge of one chapel session in the coming season, and that it would also sponsor one pep meeting.

Members who are not football men are urged to try to keep off the fence anyone who may try to get in during a football game.

EPSILON MU SIGMA

Gladys Harris, last year's president took charge of the first part of the first formal business meeting of the E. M. S. which was held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the study hall.

An election of officers was held with the following result: President Doris Peters; Vice President Grace Steel; Secretary and Treasurer Mary Margaret Moore. The clubs now consists of the following members: Gladys Harris, Helen Palm, Helen Cellar and those mentioned.

Immediately after her election to the presidency, Miss Peters gave a speech of appreciation in which she declared she would do her best for the good of the club.

The constitution of the club was read by the new vice president. A new amendment was then passed. It stated that no member could miss two meetings in succession or three meetings throughout the year without special permission from Miss Kuhlman.

The club is going to present in chapel Monday a flag of the state to the school. The presentation will be by Uncle Doc Robinson, sergeant of arms and custodian, in the House of Representatives of the state of Ohio.

After the meeting was adjourned fortune telling games provided the entertainment.

This was followed by the serving of delicious refreshments by the hostesses of the evening, Grace Steele and Doris Peters.

The Epsilon Mu Sigma is very sorry to lose two active members of the club, Peggy Courtwright and Margy Hunsicker due to ineligibility.

At the meeting to be held next week there will be an initiation of new members. There are 12 eligible.

Willard "Woody" Robinson, freshman, broke his arm recently when thrown from a bicycle.

A standard preliminary general diagnostic test in grammatical usage, prepared by Mullen and Lanz of California, was given to all freshmen and juniors in English classes Tuesday for the purpose of discovering the prevalence and nature of faulty habits of expression in order to estimate the amount and kind of grammar drill needed in each case to eliminate individual errors.

High in the junior class was 97; low, 73; median 69. High in the freshman class was 92; low 32; median 66.

Grace Steele 97, Gertrude Lannan 95, Robert Rooney and Cleo Brown 92, Jeannette Bower 90, Abram Gordon and Lucille Dumm 88, Mary A. Ryan, Zelma Hoffman, Jessie Cummings and John Hegele 87, and Clarence Barnhart 85 were high scorers for the junior class. Margaret Buskirk 92, Rhoda Goff and Rose Mary Jackson 90, Howard Ater and John Mason 87, Avanel Haecker 85, Charlotte Caskey, Sara May, Ned Griner and Ruth Moffitt 83, Dorothy Thompson 72, Alice Cummings, Lillian Binkley, Gene Rader and Sarah Steinhauser 82, Elwood McCreary and Mary Jane Lowe 80, were high scorers for the freshmen class.

REFERENCES FOR ENGLISH

A volume of 12 reference books entitled English in Fact and Story for reference use in fourth year English classes, has been purchased for C. H. S. According to Miss Watson these will be used entirely for reference work and will give the student a more vivid knowledge of English.

COMMERCIAL GOSSIP

Mildred Greenlee, a junior, has been appointed as clerk to Mr. Keeler for this year.

Typing students are busy on their first assignments. The beginners are seemingly having a difficult time learning the keyboard, while some of the advanced have not as yet limbered up as they seem to be still making errors.

Several advanced students are busy typing the registration sheets for the different schools. Bookkeeping students are working on exercises in their textbooks and some are making very good progress.

Business English classes have been studying the use of correct English.

A new course in metal work has been introduced this year in the metal work department. The course will take up sheet metal work, plumbing, forging and a study of the care and repair of the automobile. Three classes have thus far been enrolled in the new course given in metal work.

A new course is offered to the special education students this year. The new course will take up household mechanics.

Several students are busily engaged in constructing a large table which will be installed in Principal Gephart's office.

Sophomores were given instructions as to the use and care of the machinery in the woodwork department, Monday.

SCIENCE DEMONSTRATES

Demonstration experiments are now being conducted in general science classes by Mr. Watts. The experiments are the preparation of oxygen, carbon dioxide and nitrogen, and a discussion of the relative importance of these gases. This is the freshman's first taste of demonstration experiments in science and they seem intensely interested. Next week physical and chemical changes will be discussed.

FROSH PLAY BALL

Freshman boys under the leadership of J. W. Fetherlin have organized two recreation baseball teams. During the physical education period these teams will oppose each other in games.

Under the captaincy of O. Miller, the following boys will play: Laughlin, first baseman; R. Davis, second baseman; Turex, third baseman; Dowden, right s. s.; Frank, O. Miller, pitcher; Davis, catcher; left s. s.; Ammer, right field and Crist, center field and Campbell, left field.

Those boys who will be captained by John Cummings are Cummings, p.; Hitchcock, c.; Eldridge, 1st b.; Horn, 2nd b.; J. Mader, 3rd b.; C. Rader, r. s. s.; J. Styrer, l. s. s.; Robinson, r. f.; Wellers, c. f.; J. Moore, l. f.; Stonerock and J. Teale will act as Mr. Fetherlin's assistants in refereeing.

SENIOR GIRLS AHEAD

Senior and junior girls have organized recreation ball teams. Jinsy Mader is captain of the seniors and Doris Peters, of the juniors. Each day the teams play against each other during physical education. So far the seniors lead by one point.

EIGHTH GRADE NEWS

A new student, Sula Birchwell, has enrolled in the eighth grade. She formerly attended school at Darbyville.

CHAPEL

National constitution week was observed Monday morning during the chapel period when S. T. Rife gave an interesting talk upon the subject, "Our Changing Constitution."

In this talk, Mr. Rife discussed thoroughly representative government, dual citizenship and guaranteed personal liberty.

Dwight Wier, '24, then entertained the audience with several violin numbers. Among these were "Canzonetta," by Godard, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," "Serenade," by Pierne and extracts from "Thais." Elizabeth Roundhouse accompanied him at the piano.

DEGREES CONFERRED

Degrees or merit given by the National Forensic League for praiseworthy participation in interscholastic debates have been received by Veronica Kunhs, Alice Roof and Marie Kellstadt. They were elected members of the Ohio General chapter of the National Forensic League last year and received the key to that organization before the closing of school in June.

During their high school career these girls successfully debated Lancaster, Washington C. H., and Portsmouth high schools three seasons.

It is a great honor to be a member of such a league, and it is hoped that more Circleville students may be privileged to join this year.

PRINCE OF PEACE CONTEST

The Ohio Council of Churches is now staging the fifth Prince of Peace Declaration contest, open to all students between the ages of 14 and 18.

Principal Gephart urges all students of C. H. S. to enter, because as yet no student of C. H. S. has been a contestant.

Students who wish to enter can enroll with the pastor, of their local church. The pastor of the church will give them a booklet containing many declarations. When the contestant is able to memorize one of these declamations he or she has a chance to win a prize. The prizes are: first—$400 and a four-year scholarship; second—$200 and a two year scholarship; third—$100 and a one year scholarship; fourth, fifth and sixth—$50 each.

Many new books are being used in C. H. S. this year. Some are new revised editions replacing old ones, while others are entirely new.

As the State Department of Education requires two years of science in high school, chemistry and physics will be alternated each year here.

This year a new book, entitled "Practical Physics," by Black and Davis, is being used. This book contains both mathematical and science instruction, and will be used generally in the "lab." Another new book being used by Mr. Guthrie, entitled "Factors of Economic Geography," by Staples and York, is being used because the most essential factors in commerce and geography are stressed.

Freshmen entering high school will meet with an entirely new science book this year. This book is written by Caldwell and Curtiss, entitled "Introduction to Science." In this book freshmen students gain a vivid knowledge of both science and mathematical instruction. Mr. Watts has been given the task of teaching it.

A revised edition of ancient and medieval history for sophomores written by Robinson and Breasted, is being taught by Miss Kuhlman. A revised edition of bookkeeping written by Baker and Puckett is being taught by Mr. Keeler. He is also teaching a new edition of shorthand by Gregg.

This year American History will be taught the full year to seniors by Mr. Gephart, as last year the juniors obtained a knowledge of civics. Mr. Gephart has also selected a notebook of map exercises and syllabus by Bishop and Robinson. In this notebook many maps are outlined and tracing paper for the students is included. Students outline the territories on the map. All of these books and new editions were selected because they more simply present to the student a better knowledge of the study.

Mr. Keeler was responsible for conducting the book sale in such an efficient manner and John Himrod and Don Wolfe acted as his assistants.

Melba Pearce RECOVERING
Melba Pearce, a sophomore, was badly burned on the left leg Monday morning in the domestic science department when a pan of boiling water was accidentally upset near her.

Miss Pigman and Coach Guthrie attended her and later removed her to her home.

Melba has recovered sufficiently to resume her classes Monday, it is said.
